Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 27 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry before isolated showers later and rain tonight.

Today:
A cold start with the chance of a local rural frost. Largely clear and bright through the morning with patchy cloud thickening from the west during the afternoon, bringing with it the occasional shower. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
There will be the odd clear spell this evening before outbreaks of rain arrive in the early hours. These will be heavy at times with winds strengthening too. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
A damp and murky day with intermittent drizzle and patchy light rain under extensive cloud cover. Breezy but feeling milder. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloud clearing on Monday giving way to clear and dry conditions for the rest of the period. Breezy at times on Monday before becoming calm. Mild to very mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.